

An Asscher cut distinguishes this 10.09-carat diamond ring with pavé mount by Lee Siegelson, opposite. This page, Jean-François Albert's 27.79-carat golden sapphire glows in its pavé diamond and 18-karat yellow- and white-gold band. Roberto Coin's "Trilogy" ring features three pearls in white, gold, and gray. "This ring is meant to symbolize the past, present, and future, as well as the convergence of cultures for world peace," says Coin.

